

Dear Ken,

How are you? I didn't write to you earlier because I was very busy.

Our new home is really nice. It is an hour to the city centre but the bus stop is only five minutes away. I have my own room here.

My new school is good too. There are many children. I've made some new friends. They are kind and helpful. We went to the cinema last week. We saw "Star wars". It was really cool!

How are you? I miss you and my friends in my old school and I'm thinking about you a lot. How are Max and Tina?

Write back soon. I'm looking forward to hearing all your news.

Love,
Jack

Who is the writer and who is the receiver of the letter?

Why is the writer writing the letter? What has happened?

What does he want the receiver of the letter to do?
